Prompt or Topic:	You have every world leader in a room with you for one hour, what would you tell them?

Many powerful and influent people have tried to gather every world leader to make a real change, some of them haven't achieved it, but how about those who have? Well they haven't made a real change or a remarkable difference in the world, so that it makes us think about the following question: What have they done wrong?

You, dear reader, let's "trade shoes" and tell me, Don't you want the best for your children? Or even, the best for the next generation human beings? I know you wish you had a better world to live in. "The men dominate his kind to spoil himself" (Charles T. Russell)

Since I was 10 years old I began to see how many people started to harm one another only because of the money, and that made me ask myself about the reason why. Now that I have the possibility to change the world I will make all the leaders ask themselves, Are you, dear president, leader or chief, willing to live like one of us, with no water, no food, poverty, no job and more likely to commit suicide because of all the troubles you're going through? In certain way, the things that I'll tell them will touch their hearts. I will tell them that we as regular citizen want something to bite, and it's not money, we want food. For, of course I'm not asking for a type of "anarchy" or "socialism" where everybody own the same I JUST WANT ME AND MY DAUGHTER a healthy meal, water that won't harm our stomach. I want all the people to have a decent meal.

Zion and Gekend are two children I met in my trip to Kenya in Africa, even tho I'm not soft-hearted, their situation just touched my heart so hard that I, every sixty days I send them 25 dollars. When I found them I realised that their parents were labourers, doing hard work reaping other people's vegetables and then I asked them to take me to the Kenya minister and guess what, HE WAS STARVING AS WELL AS THE OTHER PEOPLE'S people, I asked him properly about what I had to do to fix the issue, well he told me about an association that could reach every Africa's corner, and since then and now I'm still sending money to build up let it flow in less time.

IF I were in the middle of every leader in the world
I'd tell them "Be humble for a while, you don't need money, you need humility, please, you have money grown from trees and we only want fruit grown from trees, HELP US."
